

GOOGLE GIRLS

INT. BREAK ROOM - DAY

ADELL, sits at the lunch table in the break room eating her sandwich or somesuch. After a moment, she is joined by VAIO.

VAIO

Hey! I didn't see you this morning at the coffee shop.

ADELL

I was running a little late today.

VAIO

Oh, the weekend was that good, huh?

ADELL shrugs.

ADELL

Mac and I are having some issues.

VAIO

Mac? Is that your Google guy?

ADELL nods.

ADELL

Yeah. You know, I thought we had something very Peer to Peer going on. We had a solid connection and we weren't using all our bandwidth. A little Google on the weekend, the occasional Fandango on a Friday night...

VAIO

So what changed?

ADELL

I'm not sure. It seems like he wants more than just Plug and Play now.

VAIO

Do you think he's worried about your virus protection?

ADELL

No, he's the only one with access to get through my firewall right now, and he knows that.

VAIO

But you don't want to give him your admin password yet.

ADELL

Yeah, exactly! The whole thing is streaming along just fine right now. I don't want to change that.

VAIO

So do you think it's time to pull the plug? Is it heading off-line?

ADELL

I'm not sure. Maybe we need to just reboot the whole thing.

VAIO

Yeah, but if he's tweaking your OS, a reboot could cause it all to crash.

ADELL

(frustrated)

Why can't he just be happy with the fact that we're interfacing just fine right now. There's no reason to try to optimize anything.

VAIO

Maybe there's not enough RAM for him.

ADELL

Like hell there's not! He's getting some serious upgrades already. I'm state of the art, high speed, minimal maintenance with two damn fine processors and I don't go all blue screen on him if he's got something else he needs to do.

VAIO

Did you defrag his hard drive?

ADELL

Of course. He loved it.

VAIO

What about your USB port?

ADELL

Yep.

VAIO

Fire wire?

ADELL
(in the 'well duh' style)
Yeah!

VAIO
Well, did you give him your back door access code?

ADELL freezes for a moment, in shock.

ADELL
Do you think he'd want that?

VAIO
ALL men want that. With Back door access, there's nothing to hide.

ADELL
I guess it couldn't hurt.

VAIO
Not after the first time, at least.